Dear Vicki

I am writing to congratulate you and your school community on the report following the recent SIAMS inspection. Please pass on my appreciation to the whole of your school community. I am grateful for your investment in nurturing and shaping young lives in our values of wisdom, hope, community, and dignity.

I was delighted to read that the SIAMS inspector acknowledged that the vision runs as a golden thread through the school and has a consistent and positive impact on the flourishing of adults and pupils. It is wonderful to read that there is a rich pattern of collective worship which is promoting pupils' spiritual development, and that the strong partnership with the church enhances this.

There is a great deal to be proud of in this report which highlights the excellent contribution of RE in transforming lives. It is very pleasing that 'kindness in the community' underpins relationships and behaviour at St Jude's. The report reflects many wonderful aspects of the work of all those in your school community to enable all pupils and adults to belong and thrive, and you should all feel very proud.

May you continue to have God's blessing in your valuable ministry as a head teacher.

Yours sincerely
